My players has a lot of effects that do not apply to my cue scene, for example the cross fade the fade up the fade down etc. I can't seem to change the effects to fit the cue scene. I have tried changing the FX Playlist (My Cue/Sound track) the Cue and Sound track separately and the Scene I also tried playing back just my cue scene and see if my cues were even on. When I play the cue scene the sound file plays. When I play my cue scene the sound file plays. But when I try to apply the effects to my cue scene they don't seem to work or have the desired affect. 568. In the present case, moreover, the district court based its decision on the substantial evidence before it in the form of the treatises and testimony of Dr. Lawrence. 12 The second prerequisite, independent testing by "experts", was met as well. Dr. Lawrence had personally examined both of the disputed documents and was qualified to evaluate them. Moreover, the two legal documents at issue in this case were subject to laboratory testing by experts in the legal community. That the testing occurred by different experts on each side does not detract from the validity of the testing or the accuracy of the experts' conclusions. 13 The third and final prerequisite for admissibility of expert testimony, a "fit" between the testimony and the disputed documents, is also satisfied here. The rules of evidence do not require that an expert's opinion be "on the precise question at issue in the case." F.R.Evid. 702 advisory committee note; accord United States v. Reiburn, 830 F.2d 1295, 1299 (9th Cir.1987); United States v. Redfield, 436 F.2d 556, 565 (9th Cir.1970). The exception to this rule requires, however, that the expert's testimony be "on the very question that is the subject of the controversy." Fed.R.Evid. 702 advisory committee note. The test, as set forth by this court, is as follows: 14 The general rule in the Ninth Circuit is that "[i]f the theory or technique is sufficiently valid, it will pass muster under Rule 702." This, however, does not mean that every such theory or technique will be admissible. Rather, "[i]n order for expert testimony to be ad 82157476af
